THE COLLECTORS

Saturday, September 26, 2015

The collector plays a vital role in the art world, acting as a patron of artists and institutions as well as a cultural commentator whose choices and actions influence the shape of the art market.

Join Canadian Art associate editor Nicholas Brown as he kicks off the Gallery Hop with a panel that looks at the role of collecting at the intersection of public institutions, private collections, art dealers and artists (collected and collectors in their own right).

Join us before you set out on your Hop! Thank you to the Drake Hotel for providing the Underground.

This project is about more than just financial support. Whether it is through mentorship, programming, providing access to a broader audience or facilitating awards and prizes, we support up-and-coming artists to help them gain national recognition for their talent as they bridge the gap from emerging to established.
